IN MEMORIAM

FREDERICK L. TROWBRIDGE

Since the publication of the last issue of the Magazine, two of our subscribers have passed the frontier of mortality. Frederick L. Trowbridge, of New Haven, Conn., was an old family friend, who for many years was closely associated with my father. Both were members of the staff of the First National Bank, and Mr. Trowbridge was president of the New Haven Building and Loan Association, of which my father was secretary. When I succeeded my father (at his death) in the latter position, I was intimately associated with Mr. Trowbridge for several years, and beneath the reserve and punctiliousness of the banker learned to appreciate the human qualities that characterized the man.

Knowing that I resigned my office with the Association because of my greater interest in genealogy, he brought me two of my first clients; and he subscribed to the Magazine, not so much from a personal interest in genealogy, as to aid an undertaking which was close to my heart.

It is such simple acts of kindness and thoughtfulness, too rarely encountered, which will make Mr. Trowbridge long and pleasantly remembered by those who had the privilege of knowing him.

We lose a life with every friend we lose,
And every death is painful but the last.

COLONEL CHARLES E. BANKS

In the sudden and regrettable death of Col. Charles E. Banks, the genealogical world has lost one of its most outstanding figures. A native of Maine, Col. Banks for many years devoted his leisure to genealogical studies. Trained as a Doctor of Medicine and surgeon, he entered the U. S. service, where he rose to the command of a naval hospital, was personal physician to the late President Taft, and assistant surgeon-general of the United States Public Health Service. At the same time he made a name for himself as the author of the History of Martha's Vineyard and other historical works. Under the initials C.E.B.M. (Charles E. Banks, Maine) his contributions to the genealogical columns of the Boston Transcript were welcomed by inquirers all over the country.

Following his retirement from the service, he had several good years to devote exclusively to genealogy. Going to England for a few months to make special studies into the origin of the Mayflower pilgrims, he quickly made a reputation as a specialist in English research. Genealogical commissions sought him out, and he remained in England about four years, collecting valuable data concerning the antecedents of the New England colonists.

After his return, he established himself in Boston, and practically worked himself to death. Within a space of three years, he wrote and published three books: The English Ancestry and Homes of the Pilgrim Fathers (1929), The Winthrop Fleet of 1630 (1930), and The Planters of the Commonwealth (1930). In addition, two more books from his pen are now in the press: History of York, Maine, and Able Men of Suffolk. The latter is the first publication of The Anglo-American Foundation, an organization in the founding of which he was actively interested. Not content with all this, he was active in the Massachusetts Historical Society, of which he was a member, and often read interesting papers on historical subjects, which were printed in the Proceedings of that Society. He also contributed articles to The New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, and recently was made a member of the Publication Committee of that periodical. Yet he still had time to carry on a voluminous correspondence with other genealogists and to carry out commissions for private clients. A remarkable record for a man to achieve in the few brief years before his death at the age of seventy-seven!

A few years ago, Col. Banks spent weeks abstracting the numerous genealogical entries in Winthrop's medical journal, a mine of rich genealogical ore which has been almost unknown. He had the great kindness to send me a carbon copy of his abstracts for my private information. I have used none of these entries which were of interest to my professional clients without obtaining his permission in each instance, and usually paying a modest fee for the privilege. When, however, I was compiling Families of Old Fairfield, of his own volition he authorized the use of any of this material affecting Fairfield families, and acknowledgment was made to him in the preface of that work. When he learned, some time ago, of my proposal to publish the early Connecticut records, he again, on his own initiative, gave me written permission to utilize the Winthrop abstracts if and when I carry out these plans. Now that my plans for publishing the Connecticut families are more definite, I hope and expect to publish (along with them) the Winthrop abstracts, under the name of Col. Banks, as a tribute to his memory and to his generosity.

Col. Banks had few equals in his ability to read the script of the earlier centuries. His research was in original documentary sources, and his keenness led him to make a number of creditable discoveries. He was a true scholar, and it was his contention that genealogy, being a form of collective biography, is a branch of history and not inferior to other types of historical research.

A liberal in religion and politics, a man of great independence of thought, Col. Banks had the courage to express his convictions, and on several occasions assailed conventional historical opinions with great force. His literary style was fluent, not without charm, and punctuated with wit, and he was at his best when writing on a controversial subject, either historical or genealogical.

In Col. Banks I have lost a personal friend. Several times I had the pleasure of entertaining him for a few hours in my home, and always found conversations with him instructive and stimulating. A letter written only a few days before his death referred to the trip he was then planning and the possibility of my seeing him en route. He died at Hartford, Conn., 22 October, 1931, while on this trip.

It is given to few men, after retirement from a successful career, to devote their years after seventy to a hobby so assiduously as to convert that hobby into a second career and to rise to eminence in it. The genealogical world mourns his passing; I feel a sense of personal loss; yet Col. Banks had a good life, a full and active life, and survived to a good age with intellect and faculties unimpaired. Like Tennyson's Ulysses he could say:

Life piled on life
Were all too little, and of one to me
Little remains; but every hour is saved
From that eternal silence, something more,
A bringer of new things.

Yet in that little remnant of life beyond seventy, with unremitting zeal he erected an enduring monument to himself in his historical and genealogical books. We may regret that he overtaxed his energy to accomplish this; but we must not forget that he was happy in doing it, and that he would have been unhappy in an inactive, muffled-up old age.

Come from the heat of battle, and in peace,
Soldier, go home; with thee the fight is won.

THE ENDOWMENT FUND

WHAT THE MAGAZINE HAS COST

It is felt that our subscribers, and in particular those who responded to our appeal for financial aid four years ago, may be interested in actual figures of what the Magazine has cost.

We will not speak here of the tremendous amount of time which the compiler and editor spent over the course of some twenty years collecting and arranging data, chiefly from public record sources, except to say that in addition to devoting much of his leisure to the work during that period, two full years were given to the final collecting of data before the Magazine was started. All of this time the compiler expected to give, and has given, as a labor of love, without any recompense whatever. It is conservatively estimated that the value of this time, at standard professional rates, would amount to upwards of $15,000.

It was expected, when the Magazine was started, that subscriptions should pay printing and mailing costs, and allow the editor something for his actual time preparing copy for the printer and reading proof and for clerical assistance in this work.

For printing seven and a half volumes, including part of the mailing cost, our accounts show a total of $5,416.04. The charges for the entire eight volumes can now be closely estimated as about $5,800. As the editor paid the postage for the earlier volumes, as well as the mailing of bills and correspondence with subscribers, out of his own pocket without keeping a record, the total cost should probably be placed over rather than under $5,800.

Receipts from subscriptions have fallen short even of paying these costs. At the end of the fourth volume the Magazine was only just making up the deficit through the occasional sale of back issues and the still more occasional sale of a complete set. Since then, from these sources, the Magazine has derived enough to keep it from further deficit and even to show a surplus above the costs.

It may surprise our subscribers to learn that the average number of regular subscribers has been but 125. The first four volumes were issued to advance subscribers at $5.00 each, the last four at $6.00. But because some of these subscriptions came through agencies, and libraries have been allowed the usual discount on the last four volumes, the net proceeds have averaged not far from $5.00 per subscription for the entire eight volumes, or a rough total of about $5,000. These figures are stated to show that subscribers have been given the lowest possible rate. If we could have had twice the number of subscribers, a subscription price of $3.50 per volume could have been set and would have paid all costs, including clerical assistance and the editor's time spent on purely editorial labors.

After four volumes had been printed, the editor was so discouraged because of the comparatively slight support the Magazine was receiving, that, being then engaged on professional work which demanded most of his available time, he doubted whether he should, in justice to himself and family, sacrifice paying work in order to gain the time to spend on the unremunerative work of continuing the Magazine.

An appeal was therefore made at that time for funds to make possible the employment of clerical assistance. In response, the sum of $304 was received in cash, and six complete sets were purchased to aid the Magazine. These donations were acknowledged in the Magazine at the time, individually; and we pause here to express again our appreciation, collectively. Acknowledgment is also due to the New Haven Colony Historical Society for the offer of a few hundred dollars from its publication funds, towards printing a volume. We did not avail ourselves of this kind offer, because the previous acceptance of the above-mentioned funds, and an unexpected increase in the sale of back numbers and sets, enabled us to get along without this subvention, and it is not the policy of the Magazine or its editor to request or accept assistance unless it is direly needed. Considerably more than the cash endowment of $304 was paid out for editorial work, clerical assistance, etc., on the last four volumes.

Through the sale of single issues, the number of copies on hand of the last four volumes (of which only 200 copies were printed) has been so reduced that it will be possible to make up only about 25 more complete sets. The number of copies of most of the earlier issues (of which 300 copies were printed) is larger. Gradually these will be sold, and now that the work on the eight volumes of the Magazine has been completed, it is planned to set apart a fixed percentage from all sales of back issues and complete sets until we are able to refund the amounts given to the endowment fund. It is not certain that all who donated cash will welcome this refund; and the choice will be given them of a refund or of redonating their contributions to the preparation and printing of the index which Miss Love is now compiling.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT
THE AMERICAN GENEALOGIST
AND
NEW HAVEN GENEALOGICAL MAGAZINE

PLANS FOR THE FUTURE

With the April 1932 issue, the New Haven Genealogical Magazine will complete its eighth volume and the task of publishing the record of New Haven families. Many subscribers have asked us to continue the magazine and to devote it to the records of other Connecticut towns. The present announcement is issued, to set forth the plans and policies adopted for the magazine.

The American Genealogist and New Haven Genealogical Magazine (Volume IX) will begin with the July 1932 issue. The double title has been adopted, to retain the goodwill which has been won under the latter title, and to signify the wider scope and double purpose of the magazine in the future. It will be a quarterly. The present price ($6.00) per volume will be retained. Each issue will contain at least 64 pages, and it is hoped to print 80 or 96 pages in each issue. This will be done if enough new subscriptions are received to enable us to pay for the enlarged size.

SUBSCRIBE NOW—EDITION LIMITED

Advance subscribers will receive the advantage of subscribing at cost ($6.00). Single issues will sell for $2.50. Only 100 copies will be printed above the number subscribed for when we go to press. After each volume is completed, the price per volume will be increased to $8.00. Do not send payment before April 1, 1932.

THE AMERICAN GENEALOGIST

About half the pages in each issue of the magazine will contain some or all of the following features:

I. Articles of interest to amateurs on various phases of genealogical study, by Mr. Jacobus. Among the titles which will appear in early issues are: Tradition and Family History; Errors in Genealogical Books; Dates and the Calendar; Marriage; and Probate Customs. The intention is to make this section a complete course of training for the inexperienced genealogist.

II. Articles on research in various parts of the country, by various genealogists who are familiar with conditions in their own localities.

III. Notes by reputable genealogists, both professional and amateur, giving results of their research; new discoveries not previously circulated by publication. These notes will be limited chiefly to first settlers and their immediate families in any of the American colonies.

IV. We shall be glad to accept articles on the English origin of American settlers. Occasionally, a critical examination will be made of claims to titled or royal ancestry.

V. Reviews of genealogical books. Publishers and compilers who desire a prompt review should send one copy of their books to the editor. The magazine will make every effort to point out the good features of every book reviewed, but in justice to the reader will also mention gross defects when they occur.

VI. Queries and Answers. If our subscribers desire this feature, it will be included. Names and addresses will not be published, to save contributors the annoyance of undesired "replies." Queries will be published under initials; answers will be mailed soon after receipt to the inquirer, and published in the next issue if of sufficient general interest. If this service attracts too little support from subscribers, it will be omitted after a year's trial.

VII. An index at the end of each volume.

CONNECTICUT RECORDS

The other half of the pages in each issue will be devoted to printing the early records of Connecticut to at least 1700. These will include the vital statistics of the older towns, and church records, and it is intended thereafter to print abstracts (to 1700) of the probate records, county court records, and the plantation and land records.

This will not be a rehash of matter already in print, but a careful copy of original records, many of which are in a poor state of preservation. Our plan will make them accessible in convenient form to genealogical inquirers, and will result in saving the information buried in these archives before they become entirely illegible. Mr. Jacobus plans to compare the copy with the original before printing in each case, to ensure the accuracy of the printed copy.

Among the records which it is planned to publish in Volume IX are the vital statistics and church records of Milford to 1700; the vital statistics and church records of Branford to 1700; the vital statistics and church records of Woodbury to 1700; and a genealogical abstract of the first volume of Stamford Town Records which includes the vital statistics to 1700. The first two of these have never been published. Cothren's History of Ancient Woodbury contains numerous errors and omissions so far as the town vital statistics are concerned, and prints only about half of the baptisms prior to 1700. Huntington's Stamford Registration contains many errors in the vital statistics and of course does not include the early probate entries which are found in the first town book.

POLICY

The American Genealogist is not connected with any society, bureau or institute; is entirely independent; and will not be dominated by any clique or operated in the interest of any organization. It is hoped to make it a vehicle for the better element of the genealogical fraternity.

Stress will be placed on the early colonial records and generations, which are of interest to large numbers of descendants. Complete or extensive family histories cannot therefore be considered for publication. Short articles containing new discoveries, the solution of old problems, or corrections of old errors, will be welcomed, to the extent of the available space.

The editor will be Donald Lines Jacobus, who edited the first eight volumes of the New Haven Genealogical Magazine. It is expected that an editorial staff will be organized later.

Genealogists who subscribe to the magazine will have the privilege of two free insertions of their professional cards in the advertising pages reserved for that purpose. The editor reserves the right to refuse both the subscriptions and the advertising of genealogists known to be fraudulent, but cannot set himself up to judge the competence of those who accept these terms.

BOOK REVIEWS

By GILBERT H. DOANE

This department is limited to a consideration of recent publications on the subject of American genealogy or colonial history. Books that may be of interest to our subscribers, especially those containing the genealogy of Connecticut families, are sometimes accorded a notice without request. Authors and publishers can make certain of securing a review by sending one copy of the book to the reviewer, Office of the Librarian, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Neb. Reviews are by the Review Editor unless otherwise initialed.

Eddy. The Ancestors and Descendants of Zachariah Eddy of Warren, Pa. By Byron Barnes Horton, A.M. Privately printed for the author by The Tuttle Company, Rutland, Vt., 1930. 332 pages, indexed. Obtainable from Byron Barnes Horton, Sheffield, Pa. Price: $10.00.

This is an attractively printed, well-bound volume: a credit to the book-making ability of The Tuttle Company and to the quiet, dignified taste of the compiler, who undoubtedly had considerable to do with the general format of the book.

One has but to read the author's preface to realize that this book is the work of a scholar, for there Mr. Horton makes a brief but comprehensive survey of the published genealogies of the Eddy family. Each book is cited with careful regard for bibliographical accuracy, and the location of unpublished compilations is noted with equal care. This preface is but a sample of the scholarly pains with which the entire book has been compiled. Accompanying each statement of fact throughout the book is a reference to the source of the information, whether that source was a printed book, an unpublished document, or a member of the family.

The first fifty-six pages of the volume are devoted to the account of the descent of Zachariah Eddy (1778-1872); pages 57-134 are taken up with the record of Mr. Eddy and all of his descendants to the present day; pages 137-148 (Part II) consist of a record of the Alden, Sampson, and Standish ancestry of Zachariah Eddy, set down in brief but none the less accurate form. The Appendix, pages 151-322, contains documents, a large majority here printed for the first time, which pertain to the Eddy, Alden, Sampson, and Standish families. The Index occupies pages 323-332.

The genealogical arrangement is that known as the "Register plan" which was originally devised by the editors of the New England Historical and Genealogical Register several years ago. In the opinion of the Review Editor it is by far the most easily comprehensible arrangement of genealogical data and should be used whenever space will permit.

Zachariah⁷ Eddy was descended from the Rev. William¹ Eddy, vicar of St. Dunstan's, Cranbrook, co. Kent, England, through Samuel², Obadiah³, Samuel⁴, Samuel⁵, and Nathan⁶. Mr. Horton has given a full account of each of these six paternal ancestors of Zachariah Eddy, noting the activities of each in their respective communities. The Rev. William Eddy, whose birth and parentage cannot as yet be determined, was born in Bristol, co. Gloucester, England; he graduated from Cambridge University, and was associated in a modest way with some of the prominent protestants of his day. Two of his sons and one of his daughters came to New England: John² settling in Watertown, Massachusetts, with his sister and her husband, John Benjamin; Samuel² settling in Plymouth. Samuel died in Swansea, at the home of one of his sons. He married Elizabeth ———, whose surname and parentage have eluded Mr. Horton and other genealogists of the Eddy family. In the next generation the name and parentage of Bennet, wife of Obadiah³ Eddy, has likewise been undetermined. Samuel⁴ Eddy married Melatiah Pratt; and his son, Samuel⁵, married Lydia Alden, a great-granddaughter of John Alden, the Pilgrim. Nathan⁶ Eddy, their son, married Eunice Sampson, whose grandmother was Lydia Standish, a granddaughter of Capt. Myles Standish, the Pilgrim; he was attracted to the lands being opened up in Vermont, then popularly known as "the New Hampshire grants," and removed to Woodstock, with some twenty other Middleboro families, about 1780. He died in Pittsfield, Vermont, in 1804.

Zachariah⁷ Eddy was born in Middleboro, Massachusetts, in 1778, and was taken to Vermont as an infant. Here he grew to manhood, but the comparatively unproductive land there did not hold much attraction for him, and the westward movement was under way. Like many other adventuresome young Vermonters of the day, he "went west" in search of better and more arable land. By 1798 he was in Marietta, Ohio, then the "North-west Territory," with his brothers. He is said to have taken up land near Cincinnati, but he was not satisfied with the climate, and started back eastward. In 1801 he was taxed as a single man in Warren, Pennsylvania. There he lived the remainder of his life and died in 1872. By his wife, Rose Stewart, he was the father of eight children, of whom six married and had descendants, one of whom is Mr. Horton.

This is one of the most satisfactory family memorials we have ever examined, in that it has been compiled with painstaking accuracy. Whenever it has been necessary to make an assumption, Mr. Horton has done it with a logical regard for known facts, and has not hesitated to call it an assumption. Moreover, he has not begrudged us information about the brothers and sisters of each successive Eddy in his line of descent. So frequently one finds a volume of this sort listing only the child in each generation through whom the memorialist's descent comes. As a genealogist Mr. Horton deserves high rank on the basis of this book. His previous book, The Ancestors and Descendants of Isaac Horton (1912), we have not seen.

Beach-Walkley. Beach Family Reminiscences and Annals, by David Nelson Beach. Meriden, Conn., The Journal Press, 1931. Obtainable from Mrs. Ellen W. Beach, 228 N. Main St., Southington, Conn. Price: $3.00.

This a well-printed volume of 244 pages, bound in red cloth. It is not indexed.

In no sense can this be called a genealogy, although the prospectus of it announced that "the book includes the genealogy of the Beach family in New Jersey and the Walkley family in Connecticut." To be sure the author, the late Rev. David Nelson Beach, gives his line of descent from Thomas¹ and Sarah (Platt) Beach of New Haven, through the son, Zopher², who settled in New Jersey (Cf. NEW HAVEN GENEALOGICAL MAGAZINE, vol. 1, p. 148-49, Jan., 1923), Samuel³, David⁴, Juniah⁵ and Susannah (Tichenor), David Juniah⁶ and Huldah (Crowell), Joseph Wickliff⁷, his father. Joseph Wickliff⁷ Beach married Mary Angeline Walkley, daughter of Stephen Walkley, whose father, Jonathan Walkley, was descended from Richard Walkley, the emigrant, who settled in Durham, Connecticut. Many uncles, aunts, and cousins are mentioned as such throughout the book, but the exact relationship of these can be determined only by a very careful reading of the book, which, most unfortunately, is not indexed. And sometimes, even with careful reading, it is difficult to find out just how an "uncle" comes into the family, as it is frequently used as a "courtesy" title. Moreover, very few genealogical dates are given.

However, the book makes interesting reading, for the Rev. David Nelson Beach was a keen man and his friends and acquaintances many and varied. It is really a volume of reminiscences, as the title indicates, "dictated . . . at the request of his children during the summer of 1926." He died before it was entirely finished and before he had an opportunity to correct the manuscript in any way. It is published practically as he dictated it.

It is to be greatly regretted, as we have said, that there is no index, and that so many dates, which must have been easily obtainable by the editors, are omitted. Hence to the genealogist, the book has only a slight value, however much it may be treasured by friends and members of the family.
